"The Amundi World Investment Forum is a pivotal gathering where we offer our clients and partners vital insights into the current macroeconomic and geopolitical landscapes, the transitions underway, and their impact on their investment portfolios. This event, which brings together decision-makers from all horizons, enables us to discuss the new frontiers of our industry with debates led by internationally renowned speakers. We are delighted to welcome this year Sanna Marin, who will share her vision on how Europe should position itself within the geopolitical chessboard, and Gordon Brown, who will explore the adjustments in global cooperation that are needed to tackle climate change and global inequality", comments Valérie Baudson, Chief Executive Officer of Amundi.

THEMES AND SPEAKERS - ADAPTATION IN MOTION: SETTING OUT A NEW WAY FORWARD

The theme of this year's Forum will focus on the many transformations underway in the economic landscape, under the title: "Adaptation in Motion: Setting out a new way forward".

Indeed, despite ongoing geopolitical tensions, 2024 should see the volatility and uncertainty of recent years ease somewhat, but adaptation remains a top priority. Monetary policy should normalise as the growth versus inflation dilemma subsides. Meanwhile, societies will work to absorb the technological revolution that AI is accelerating. The next Amundi World Investment Forum will explore how policymakers, financial services and investors can meet these challenges.
