

KOREGE selects Fund Channel to manage the fund-raising services for asset managers

15 April 2026 – Fund Channel, the leading B2B fund distribution platform co-owned by Amundi and CACEIS, announces the strengthening of its relationship with KOREGE, a French insurance company renowned for its expertise in wealth management.

As part of its strategy to streamline and simplify the processes KOREGE offers to asset managers, KOREGE is strengthening its collaboration with Fund Channel by entrusting the company, on a broader scale, with the management of its fund collection and retrocession invoicing services. This extension will enable KOREGE to optimise its open-architecture ecosystem, accessible via a single point of entry, and to improve fluidity and efficiency.

KOREGE has also entrusted Fund Channel to centralise and outsource its distribution system in order to optimise the distribution of its products to retail networks in France.

Tristan de La Fonchais, Chief Executive Officer of KOREGE, said “We are delighted with this partnership with Fund Channel, which will enable us to improve operational efficiency and accelerate our business development in our target markets.”

Régis Veillet, Chief Commercial Officer at Fund Channel, adds “We are very pleased to expand the services available to KOREGE. This partnership demonstrates our ability to deploy a comprehensive and modular solution to optimise fund distribution and create value for distributors and investors.”

About Fund Channel

Fund Channel is a B2B fund distribution platform operating across Europe and Asia. Since 2005, Fund Channel provides innovative services to facilitate fund distribution, strengthen transparency, improve processes for asset managers and fund distributors. The recent launch of the Fund Channel Liquidity platform empowers treasurers with direct access to a wide range of Money Market funds, establishing it as the premier solution in Europe.

Today, Fund Channel has around EUR 660 billion of assets under intermediation providing a “one-stop-shop” solution for 600 asset managers and more than 100 distributors and has been ranked as the Best European Distribution Platform in Europe four years in a row, between 2022 and 2025 (source: Platform).

Jointly-owned by Amundi and CACEIS, Fund Channel is headquartered in Luxembourg and has offices in Italy, Singapore, and Switzerland.
